MINE WAR IN LATIMER COUNTY IS RENEWED

Kali Inla Mine Scene of Another Attack Monday Morning

GUARDSMEN FIRED ON

No One Hurt in Lively Exchange of Rifle Shots; Vigilance Increased

(By the Associated Press)
McALESTER, Sept. 2.—The Oklahoma national guardsmen on duty at Cambria, a mining settlement in Latimer county, and a party of men in a motor car exchanged shots Monday, according to a report received at the armory of the McAlester unit of the guard. None was hurt, although the automobile was riddled with bullets, it was said. Another rifle exchange occurred between guardsmen and a person hidden in a corn field near the stockade in which the guardsmen are housed, it was stated. Troops from Muskogee and Oklahoma City are on duty at Cambria. Adjutant General Markham also is at Cambria.

According to the report here, the firing took place Monday morning, a fusillade of shots raining upon the stockade in which state guardsmen are housed. The guards promptly returned the fire. Apparently no one was hurt. Some of the firing was from a picket post in a corn field near the scene. The men in the attacking party were few in number and after exchanging 12 or 15 rounds were routed. The public road passing the mine has since been placed under guard and is now commanded by machine guns. Cambria residents claim that only drunken men have made threats against workers in the Kali Inla mine.

The Kali Inla mine opened today with a force of non-union men. It has been closed several months and an attempt to open it in July but a party of men raided the mine and forcibly ejected some non-union workers who were clearing out the shafts preparatory to taking out coal.

Oklahoma City Hears.—Several shots were fired in an exchange between guards at the Kali Inla coal mine at Cambria in Latimer county and a party of men firing from the highway near the mine according to a report received by Gov. Trapp today from Adjutant General Baird H. Markham who is at Cambria. No one was injured, the adjutant general reported.

GOOD INTEREST IN ALLEN TWP. FAIR

More and Better Exhibits Displayed; Attendance Largely Increased

The Allen township fair held Monday was declared to be the best ever held there, both in attendance and in the number and quality of exhibits.

J. B. Hill states that the attendance was three times what it was the year before while there was a great improvement in the number and quality of exhibits. Altogether 125 individuals made entries and many of these entered a whole string of various articles.

Mr. Hill states that a striking feature of the fair was the evidence of increased interest in grain sorghum, this line being strongly represented in the exhibits. Other farm products were up to a high standard and the home exhibits including canning and fancy work indicated that the ladies of the township had been quite busy.

Secretary Treadwell of the Ada Chamber of Commerce took a band from here consisting of 28 boys. The music was a pleasing feature of the occasion.

In the afternoon the rain interfered with part of the program.

Capitol Cost $25,000,000.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—The capitol building of the United States, which houses both branches of congress and the Supreme Court, has been valued at $25,000,000. This figure represents actual cost. Were current local real estate values taken it would be much higher.

Yale Bank Robbed

Coolidge Talks Campaign Plans With Chairman

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—For the first time since his acceptance of the Republican nomination, President Coolidge had an opportunity today to get a complete report of the political outlook by William Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee.

President Coolidge has not decided upon any definite campaign plans for himself, but through Mr. Butler might develop something along this line and the campaign issue.

Ferguson Forces Apparently In Control of State Convention

(By the Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 2.—Democrats of Texas went into state convention here today with a slate of officers nominated by a caucus last night of supporters of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, nominee for governor, before them for approval. Developments of the Democratic executive committee meeting and caucus yesterday indicated that the Ferguson adherents would be in the majority in today's session.

Joseph W. Bailey of Dallas, former United States senator, was nominated by the caucus for permanent chairman of the convention and M. M. Crane, also of Dallas, for temporary chairman.

An important development was the selection of J. C. Adams of Dallas as national committeeman to succeed Thomas L. Love of Dallas who resigned because he said he could not follow Mrs. Ferguson as the party leader. The selection was made by the executive committee.

All the anti-Ku Klux Klan delegations with one exception were seated by the committee. The plan and its principles were excoriated by speakers at the Ferguson caucus last night.

HEALTON TRIUMPHS IN SUNDAYS GAME

Winning Streak of Locals Broken by Lads From Oil Country

In one of the most hotly contested games ever seen on Ada's diamond, the Healdton nine triumphed over the Ada Independents in Sunday's tilt. Playing almost faultlessly, both sides were in to win at every instant of the game. Two runs for the visitors proved too much for the home lads, however, as they were able to garner only a lone tally.

Going in with a long list of windings, the locals fought off defeat for a long time, and it was not until the seventh round that the visitors were able to put a man around the sacks. This time, however, they placed two men safe at home and these two were enough.

Ada was first to score. In the second inning, big Ben Rutledge slammed one out to left field for two bases. Page got a free trip to first after Healdton's pitcher had hit him with a ball. Pain flew out to center field. Rutledge advancing to third. For the second time in the inning the pitcher was wild and hit Thompson. Page being forced to second to make room on the initial sack for Thompson. Lee hit a long one to centerfield, and Rutledge scored on the catch. Forby's grounder was handled in time to get Page at first.

That unfortunate seventh played havoc with Ada's hopes. Birch was out on a grounder in front of the plate. Lindsey drove out a two bagger, and Thibodeau followed suit. Lindsey being held at third. Flowers singled through centerfield. Lindsey and Thibodeau rapped home. Miller and Pittman went out easily.

Burning Liner's Passengers Take to Boats

The S. S. Bergensfjord of the Norwegian-American line safely landed all of its passengers, their luggage and mail when fire attacked it at sea, giving the ship a heavy list. The crew managed to check the flames after 700,000 kroner damage was done. Lifeboats are shown leaving the ship.

LIONS DISCUSS MANY TOPICS

Music, Reading, Good Roads, Factories and Defense Part of Program

The object of the Defense Day on September 12 was explained by Capt. Robert S. Keer, Harry Schenck and C. E. McLean to the Lions Club in regular session today. The plans are being worked out and will be carried out as suggested by the war department.

The Lions committee to work with the other civic bodies, the National Guard and the reserve officers in carrying out the plans consists of J. C. Criswell, J. E. Hixman, and C. E. McLean. It was explained that the object is to demonstrate what the country could do in case of emergency, and that those taking part in no wise obligate themselves to go to war or enter the service at any future date. There will be parades, and other features similar to what would occur were war to become a reality. As Mr. Schenck explained it, it will be for the nation what a daily drill for a fire department is.

Miss Elizabeth Cain accompanied by Miss Violet Moore, rendered two highly appreciated selections on the violin. Mrs. J. H. Biles gave three readings, which were listened to by the large body of Lions. Other guests were Prof. W. B. Morrison with Mr. Lindehead and Hugh A. Stokes with Mr. Jackson.

A short talk was made by W. D. Little on getting factories for Ada. He emphasized the necessity of presenting facts about wages, education, fuel and other necessary expenses in the manufacture of any article. He showed what some other towns have done and told of the importance of encouraging small industries, pointing out that the largest cotton manufacturer in the South started with nothing, and that Secretary Neillon made his money by financing struggling young manufacturers.

N. P. Stall told of what other states and what other counties in Oklahoma are doing in building good roads while Pontotoc is making no effort to get paved or hard-surfaced highways. He believes that a bond issue should be voted in order to build several miles of hard-surfaced roads in the county.

President McKee announced that the County Singing Convention would be held here the Saturday night before the first Sunday in October and the next day, C. W. Fisher, R. C. Garrett and O. E. Parker were appointed as a committee to look after the entertainment of this convention.

O. E. Parker, who with Mrs. Parker and Oscar, has just returned from an automobile trip to Canada, told of the pleasure of driving over paved roads, stating that they went from St. Louis to Hamilton, Ontario, without getting off the pavement.

Theft of Klan Records Lead To Gun Battle

(By the Associated Press)

A third suspect, who told the police he is a Klan organizer, is in a hospital with a bullet in his abdomen. His recovery is doubtful. A fourth man who participated in the later found at his home with a bullet in his leg. The fifth escaped, the police announced.

RAIN FALLS IN PONTOTOC COUNTY

Eastern Part of County Drenched; Good Shower At Ada

The drought was broken in parts of Pontotoc county Sunday and Monday afternoons.

Dr. S. M. Niemy reports a heavy rain at Francis Sunday afternoon but none Monday.

Rev. C. W. Stringer of New Bethel reports fairly good rain Sunday afternoon and another Monday. A heavy rain fell at Allen and the east of that place Monday afternoon. Those who attended the Allen fair report that it rained fully an hour and filled the branches around there. However, it became lighter to the west and southwest.

P. E. Fisher reported a fine rain at Union Valley. He thinks it will help late feed and potato crops.

It was also reported that Frisco and Stonewall had a heavy downpour.

J. E. Henry of Pitzhugh stated that only a light shower fell there. At Ada it was a heavy shower that fell in the afternoon but not enough to fill the branches and creeks to running.

LABOR DAY IS QUIET AFFAIR IN THE CITY

Labor Day afforded most people of Ada another Sunday. Little change from the day before was noted. The stores were closed, and there was quietness in the whole city. The ball game in the afternoon, the golf links all during the day, and the open country afforded most of the amusement. There were no parades or celebration in the general sense.

Several went from Ada to Allen to attend the township fair, returning late in the evening. Others attended the picture shows.

FIGHTER FAILS TO FACE OPPONENT HERE

Ada Battle Called off When Only One Man Appears For Fistic Bout

The scheduled fistic encounter between Dutch Stone of this city and Kid Palmer of Holdenville, which was to have occurred last night, was called off as a result of Stone's opponent failing to appear for the battle.

Dick Dixon, promoter of the contest, expressed himself as being disappointed at the failure of the Holdenville boxer to put in his appearance after all arrangements had been made for the Labor Day program. He got in touch last evening with Palmer's mother who stated that she had not known his whereabouts during the past four days.

Dixon stated that the local fight fans need not suffer from their desire to see a real battle soon as he is arranging a bout between Stone and a Chickasha boxer who has been highly recommended by several Ada fans. He plans to stage this program next Monday. If the Chickasha boxer cannot be secured, Dixon will go to Oklahoma City for material to oppose Stone.

GUARDSMEN SENT HOME FROM HERRIN

Quiet on Surface But Trouble May Break Out at Any Time

(By the Associated Press)
HERRIN, Ill., Sept. 2.—The dawn of a new day, the third since the clash between members of the Ku Klux Klan and the county sheriff and deputies which ended only when six men lay dead and others badly wounded, saw much activity as armed troops prepared to break camp to return to their stations.

Two Illinois companies of national guards who were rushed here at the start to preserve order were returned home leaving 17 men in charge of a captain to patrol the city. They are to remain until such time as Sheriff Galligan sees fit to release them.

In Marion reports indicated that the sole sign of preparedness was in evidence about the court house where armed deputies maintained a vigil since Saturday when the sheriff and his deputies left here.

The order for withdrawal of the troops came yesterday despite heated argument between Adjutant General Black and State's Attorney Delos Duty in which the latter expressed his vigorous disapproval of the action.

Yesterday three of the dead, Dewey Newbolt, an avowed klanman, and two bystanders, Chester Reid and Otto Roland who suffered fatal wounds, from gun fire were buried while today ceremonies were held for the remaining dead, Deputy J. H. (Bud) Allison, an anti-klanman, Green Gunning and Charles Woolard, both klanmen.

Today Dr. J. P. Black, superintendent of the Herrin hospital, and John Craig, both under $15,000 bonds in connection with the shooting, were scheduled to appear for arraignment in the Herrin city court on murder charges before Judge E. N. Bowen against whom a murder warrant also has been issued.

Included in yesterday's development and only partially indicating the positions of individuals and factions in Herrin was a statement by the Ministers Association of Williamson county urging the need of law enforcement and in which both the state's attorney and sheriff were classed as incompetent and their removal from office suggested as one remedy for the situation that has long harassed the town people of Herrin and cost the lives of many.

At the time the Ministers' Association sought to back up their opinion in a definite resolution, Mr. Duty denounced the organization for what he termed their friendliness for the Klan and charged Adjutant General Black with being a member of the hooded order.

Preliminary Hearings Postponed.
HERRIN, Ill., Sept. 2.—The preliminary hearing of Dr. R. J. Black, and Claude Craig charged with the murder in connection with the killing of six men here Saturday, was continued until September 12. Failure of assistant state Attorney Roy Henson to appear was given as the reason for continuance. The hearing was set before Magistrate Abe Hicks by whom the warrants had been issued.

Sheriff's Resignation Demanded.
MARION, Sept. 2.—A delegation from the ministers' association of Williamson county came here this morning to ask the county board to request Sheriff George Galligan's resignation.

COLLEGE TO OPEN WITH GREATEST NUMBER STUDENTS

High School Graduates From All Over District Coming

NEW COURSES ANNOUNCED

Plans Ready for Best Year Known at Local Teachers Institution

All preparations are complete at the Teachers College to take care of the students who are beginning to arrive for the regular year. Advanced requests for information have been far heavier than ever before, and the indications point to a large enrollment, according to Dr. A. Lin-schold, president.

Many Teachers Coming.
Rural and consolidated schools which have had a summer session are closing this week or will close next week, and a great many teachers are coming from these schools. Some of these teachers were in attendance during the summer session here. Others did not attend during the summer. Because of their summer schools, they found it more convenient to wait until the fall term. These teachers are coming from every part of the district.

Many High School Graduates Coming.
While the majority of students will, of course, be teachers, yet there is a goodly number of those who are preparing for some other profession. Since most universities now require two years of College work before permitting a student to enter the engineering, geology, law, or medical courses, many young men and women who are planning eventually to enter those professions find it more economical to enter the Teachers College taking their two years of academic work before entering into these highly specialized professional courses. There will be more of these students in attendance this year than never before.

Commercial Courses Attract Students.
The fact that the Teachers College has a thoroughly equipped Commercial Court demanding the full time of two instructors is attracting many students. Bookkeeping, Accounting, Commercial Law, Short-hand, and Typewriting are among the courses offered. The Institution has over thirty typewriters which will be in use constantly. Commercial courses like all other courses in the Teachers College are given free of tuition.

Music Courses Popular.
The fact that the Institution has a full time instructor for band and orchestra, a competent director of public school music, and special instructors in violin and piano is proving a strong drawing card for the institution. Instruction in music is free, except that private lessons in violin and piano are upon a fee basis. The same is true of expression. Miss Shauliss, graduate of Byron King's School of Oratory, will be here ready to take up her work Monday, and those interested in expression should make arrangements with her for such lessons.

The heaviest enrollment will be in education and English. These departments attract the greatest number of students. Following them closely are the departments of history, sociology and agriculture. Mathematics and foreign language are increasing in popularity. Latin, French and Spanish being the foreign languages offered. Home economics and industrial arts courses have outgrown the equipment of the College, and it will be necessary to limit the number of students in each of these departments. Chemistry, physics, and biology demand the attention of five full time instructors. Four years ago one teacher taught all of these subjects.

Students living in Ada should enroll Friday and Saturday. Out of town students will be enrolled Monday. Class work will begin Tuesday. An additional enrollment fee will be charged those who enroll later than Monday.

Only a Matter of Hours With Birkes; Electric Chair Ready

(By the Associated Press)
McALESTER, Sept. 2.—Hours—not days—are being counted by Earl and Birkes, condemned to die early Friday in the electric chair for the murder of Frank Pitts, bank cashier, at Ketchum, August 9, 1923. Preparations were completed at the state prison today forenoon for the removal from the death row to the death cell about 400 feet from where Birkes has had the company of six condemned men for several months.

The aged mother of the condemned man and his sister left today to see Governor Trapp in Birkes' behalf.

Patients throughout the United States drank 1,347,573 gallons of prescription whisky during the last fiscal year.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

BE KINDLY AFFECTIONED one to another with brotherly love; in honor preferring one another; recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men. Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.—Romans 12:10, 17, 21.

Carl Williams in an editorial in the Farmer-Stockman asks if with the return of good crops and fair returns we will all go joy riding again as we did in 1919 and 1920. It's a safe bet that we will, for that is in line with the tendency of the average man. Like the famous character found by the Arkansas traveler whose house needed no roof in good weather and could not be covered when a rain-storm was on, most of us imagine that good times will go on forever and second accordingly. The average man does not begin to economize until he feels the pinch of hard times and then it is too late. The best minds and all the newspapers of the United States warned the public that a turn in prosperity was coming when times were so flush, but the public went its way having silk shirts, diamonds and automobiles as though such a day would never return and it is certain that our many have learned by the strenuous days they have gone through since the crash came.

The big Republican papers are all trying desperately to make the people believe Governor Bryan, Democratic nominee for vice president, is a dangerous radical. They say they form their judgment from his speech of acceptance, but none quote the dangerous and radical part to which they pretend to refer. We suspect some of these Republican defenders of Daugherty and Fall refer to this passage from Mr. Bryan's address: "The great masses of the people today are calling for progressive leadership—the buying of immunities, the issuing of permits, the hoisting of tariff schedules and the granting of government oil leases in return for campaign contributions, must be uprooted and destroyed forever." It does sound dangerous and radical to some ears we fancy.—Oklmulgee Democrat.

As the American round the world fliers approach the end of their long aerial voyage the enthusiasm for them increases. They are now back on the American continent with the worst of their perilous trip behind them. Columbus won immortal fame by his discovery of America, Magellan has gone down in history as the first to sail around the earth and these American aviators will merit a high place in aerial history for their wonderful feat in circling the globe by air.

All the wild ideas of unbalanced agitators the world over in their ignorant and pitiable quest for happiness through revolutions, confiscation of property, and crime, cannot overthrow the eternal truth that the one route to happiness through poverty or government is over the broad and open highway of service. And service always means industry, thrift, respect for authority, and recognition of the rights of others.—Chickasha Star.

The Republicans have nominated a negro dentist as their candidate for congress in a New York district. It is said that this was done to win back the thousands of negro voters who were dissatisfied with voting the ticket straight year after year and never getting any recognition worth mentioning. Looks like winning the negro vote will hereafter be a leading feature of every campaign.

The friendly meeting between Dawes and Bryan is a good example for others to follow. That men who are competitors in business or opponents in a political campaign should be personal enemies is a poor commentary on human nature. The two vice-presidential candidates showed themselves big men by their meeting.

A part of Cherokee county recently voted to join Wagoner county. Several similar moves have been made since statehood and more may follow. One time a new county was created and after a year or two of existence it was declared illegal by the courts and was wiped off the map. Thus it will be seen that map makers have some trouble in keeping up with Oklahoma.

Most Oklahoma towns have received their first hail and now the season is under fair headway. From all accounts Oklahoma will be next to Texas this year in the matter of production and if the prices hold up sections that make bumper crops will be in clover.

If the people who point with glee to a man who has slipped from the path of rectitude temporarily had said a timely word perhaps it would not have happened. However, some appear to get a great deal of satisfaction out of saying "I told you so"

Let a NEWS WANT AD get it for you.

SOUL STIRRING MEETING AT TENT MONDAY NIGHT

The Monday night services at the tent was the best yet. An old fashioned gospel message was brought to a large congregation. The subject was announced the night before as the "Little Country Doctor." Luke 10:25-37 was the lesson and text. The priest and Levite were compared to a number of our modern church members that are passing, the poor lost souls by that are down in the very pits of sin. The Samaritan was the country doctor with his bandages, oil and wine to bind up the wounds. A great spiritual lesson was taken from example of the Samaritan. The church members were asked "Do you have the oil and wine of God to pour in when you meet the lost?"

Many touching cases of the fallen converted in houses of the fallen and jails were related by the speaker. When the invitation was given a number asked for prayer. One man was converted and went away to do the Master's will.

The subject tonight, "The Child Sinned Seven Times After It Was Dead."

Miss Naomi McAdams sang a special last night, John Three Sixteen, was the title of the song. She will sing several more this week.

ALL HEADLINERS IN OWEN DAVIS' "BROADWAY AFTER DARK"

"Broadway After Dark" the screen adaptation of Owen Davis' melodrama, opened yesterday to an unusually big house at the McSwain theater, ushering in its run of a week. Needless to say, all who had come, attracted by the presence of the stellar cast—and many of the players are screen headliners in their own rights—were not disappointed. The performance was brilliant, in a full and whole, testifying to the new type of direction commanded by Monta Bell.

But it is because of its dramatic and emotional content, of the story of a Broadway show girl, that we have taken up at length. The film is a masterpiece of its kind, the most perfect of its kind yet shown on the screen. It is a masterpiece of its kind, the most perfect of its kind yet shown on the screen. It is a masterpiece of its kind, the most perfect of its kind yet shown on the screen.

The story is spirited and appealing. Here are two types of people, the one leading moth-like, fluttering lives, where the sensation of the moment is paramount, where pleasure is sought for its heightened stimulation, and the morrow a word not known to these modern disciples of Bacchus; in the other, the bleak signal of the lower classes, where girls steal to provide their dying mothers with necessities; where a woman who has once gone wrong has no chance to retrieve her reputation.

What happens when these two elements come together, in a social solution? This is what this picture sets out to show. It is replete with intimate touches of Manhattan life, covering every phase from the lowest to the highest points. Let praise be given to the cast

Europe Complains

America will never be able to understand Europe. Here we find Europe today accepting the made-in-America reparations plan and yet hating America for it. At least France and Germany, the two foremost combatants on the reparation issue, are hating us.

France, it appears, is complaining that although the American plan is better than any French plan has been, it is not so good as it ought to be. Germany holds a similar view as far as German interests are concerned. And both countries maintain that whatever the merits of the plan the American motive actuating it is despicable. That motive, as France and Germany see it, is nothing less criminal than a desire to restore Europe to prosperity in order that America may benefit by that prosperity.

In all frankness, Americans will admit that there is a good deal of truth in that, although selfish American sympathy has played a big part, too.

It is the German complaint which is hardest for Americans to understand. The Germans accused America of devising the whole plan in order to enrich itself at Germany's expense. The special wickedness of this country consists of being ready to lend Germany the money to start up in business again, when nobody else is willing to do so. That, to the German mind, seems clear evidence of an American plot to get Germany in its financial power. Germany is to be "mortgaged to American capital" by means of a Shylock loan paying about 8 percent, instead of the 60 percent that German money-lenders are charging their own countrymen.

Really, it seems harder to befriend Germany than it was to defeat her.

The meanest man in the United States ate a green apple so he could keep the family awake at night.

Memories of Princess Dealing With Kaiser's Personality Stolen

VIENNA.—A strong box containing the memoirs of the Princess of Pleiss is reported to have been stolen recently from the Kensington, England, estate of the princess. The memoirs dealt with the personality of the former German kaiser. They were written by the princess during the war when the kaiser chose castle Fuensteinstein, the Pleiss residence at Silesia, as grand headquarters for the armies and live for several months as a self-invited guest in close social contact with the princess.

Used Kellogg's Bran 2 months—constipation gone after suffering 3 years

Three years of suffering with constipation. What happiness was his when Kellogg's Bran, cooked and eaten as his letter.

"Dear Sirs:—This is what I think of your krumbled bran. I would not be without it for anything in the world. For three years I used all kinds of medicines for constipation, and only got temporary relief. I was advised by a doctor to use Kellogg's Bran, and since I began using it I don't have to take pills or anything else. I have used it two months, and my constipation has left me. I feel better now than I have for three years."

The original of this letter is on file at the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Mich.)

Kellogg's Bran brings results because it is ALL bran. You can't fight constipation with halfway measures—with bran which are only part bran. It takes ALL bran to be 100 per cent effective.

Because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran it sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It acts naturally—just as nature acts. It stimulates the intestine and makes it function regularly. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will refund your money.

Kellogg's Bran has a delicious nut-like flavor. Quite different from ordinary, unpalatable bran. You will like it as a cereal, sprinkled on other cereals, cooked with hot cereals, or in the recipes given on every package.

But two tablespoonsful of Kellogg's Bran every day—in chronic cases, with every meal. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

Cosmeticians Ask Law to Raise Beauty Shop Standards

CHICAGO—Beauty of women's faces must be protected by law, declared Dr. Nellie B. Cooper, of Baton Rouge, La., president of the American Cosmeticians' Society, at the society's convention here.

"Women's faces are far more delicate and finer than men's," said Dr. Cooper. "But men's barber shops are regulated by law all over the United States while Louisiana is the only state that has a complete law providing for the supervision of beauty shops and the proper education of beauty operators."

"More women than ever in the history of the world have come to rely on beauty treatments. There is hardly a modern girl or woman who does not go frequently to have her complexion and hair cared for and kept in their proper condition of beauty. Manipulations, treatments and preparations restorative of youth, brilliancy and complexion freshness that in ancient days were known only to queens, the favorites of royalty and the famous beauties of the ages, are now available to every woman. It is vitally important that this delicate beauty of woman that is her most precious possession be entrusted only to skilled and licensed operators."

"Beauty arts and hair treatments have gone far beyond the stage when they can be safely entrusted to insufficiently trained operators. Hundreds of thousands of women are going daily to beauty shops. They are entitled both to protection and to skilled treatment. The Cosmeticians' Society is working for uniform state laws to put all beauty shops on a high standard and for the licensing of the state of operators after they have graduated from an approved course of sufficient length. This is a crusade by women. Men who are the lawmakers must be taught by women the vital necessity of this protective legislation."

Hotel Scandal
Given Setback
by Principals

By MARGARET M'DOUGALL

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

"KNOW Madam Riccardo?" Inquired one of the group on the hotel porch. "Well, I should smile at that! I know her intimately—intimately!" And Mrs. Bellows tossed her head and smiled.

"They say there was a dreadful scandal about her last summer, wasn't there?" Inquired little Miss Jones.

Nobody had ever troubled to take any interest in dowdy little Miss Wentworth, and nobody was likely to. What aroused the antagonism of Mrs. Bellows and the rest was that she didn't seem to mind being ostracized. In fact, she had been overheard to say that she had come to The Pines for a long rest.

"Well, to begin, Riccardo isn't her name," said Mrs. Bellows. "She's some common American woman, has been queering under an Italian name, they say."

"It was about young Alpenstock, the millionaire's son, you know," Mrs. Bellows pursued. "He wanted to marry her. Of course his father got furious. The end was that the woman disappeared—bought off, I suppose."

"My dears, you are all hopelessly at sea," purred Mrs. Higginson, the pork contractor's sister. "Now I happen to know the whole story. That Riccardo woman was already married. That's how she got her name. Riccardo was some player in a cheap theater, an Italian, of course. She has entangled more young men than—"

"Oh dear! I hate to hear this talk," said little Miss Jones. "Wasn't there something said about some jewels or something?"

"Oh, you mean that diamond thara young Alpenstock gave her! Yes, his father made an end of a fuss about it, according to the society sections of the Sunday papers."

"Well," said Mrs. Tealrie, "they said something about sinning tonight, so let us go in and see if they are ready."

"Well, what do you think?" gasped Mrs. Bellows. "That Miss Wentworth is actually down for a song?"

"Poor little thing," said Miss Jones softly. "I should say she could sing about as well as a cat."

Despite this proclamation, however, Miss Wentworth acquiesced herself really quite well.

About the middle of the concert a carriage drove up to the hotel. There was a rush to the windows to get a glimpse of the newcomers. Mrs. Bellows was the first to break the news.

"It's Cyrus Alpenstock," she gasped. "And his wife. And his son, Claude. Now is the opportunity to find out just what happened in that wretched scandal!"

Alpenstocks went away in their automobile for an all-day trip. The group upon the piazza was lamenting their absence.

"Started at six, before anybody was up, to see the country," said Mrs. Bellows. "By the way, has anybody seen that Wentworth person about this morning?"

"Do you suppose she has skipped out without paying her bill?" suggested Mrs. Higginson.

"She brought a good-sized trunk with her," answered Mrs. Bellows. "It might have contained bricks," suggested little Miss Jones.

"It's my belief," said Mrs. Bellows with conviction, "that we have seen the last of that person."

But they were destined to see Miss Wentworth again, and that very evening, for she came back in the Alpenstock's car about six o'clock.

It was Mrs. Bellows who broke the ice.

"How do you do, Mr. Alpenstock?" she said, advancing with outstretched hand. "Don't you remember me? I met you here three summers ago."

"Can't say I do," growled the millionaire, but I'm glad to know you. What's your name?"

"Er—Mrs. James Bellows," faltered the lady.

"My dear, this is Mrs. James Bellows," said Cyrus Alpenstock to his wife. "Mrs. James Bellows—my son, Mrs. James Bellows, my son's fiancée, Madame Riccardo."

"Er—" stammered Mrs. James Bellows, staring into the face of the famous singer.

"Mr. Alpenstock and I have been engaged to be married quite some time," said the singer. "I must apologize for having been known to you under my maiden name. You see, the court gave it back to me when I divorced Mr. Riccardo. But I didn't pay him anything to leave me—he went away with another woman. And that story about Mr. Alpenstock wasn't quite true. In fact, Mr. Alpenstock seemed quite pleased with his son's engagement."

"Katie, you're the best thing that ever happened to the boy," growled the millionaire with conviction in his voice.

"And Mr. Alpenstock has given me a pearl thara—not diamond, Mrs. Bellows. But I didn't ask for it, and there wasn't any trouble. I just wanted to set you right, you know—for the sake of Miss Jones."

The party entered the hotel, leaving the group on the piazza looking with amused interest at Mrs. James Bellows.

"In my opinion it's all a pack of lies," snapped Mrs. James Bellows wrathfully.

Of all the earthquakes on record, the most disastrous occurred in 1556, in China, when 820,000 people were killed.

Governor Bryan Says Progressives Think in Terms of Human Beings; Conservatives in Terms of Dollars

River Sioux Park, Elk Point, S. D., Sept. 2. Gov. Charles W. Bryan, the Democratic nominee for vice-president, opened his party's Middle Western campaign here Monday with a spirited attack against the Republican administration for corruption in office, high tariff and for failure to provide relief to the farmer.

Speaking from the front porch of the farm home of Louis N. Crill, South Dakota Democratic chairman, the vice presidential nominee addressed his Labor Day message to an audience made up chiefly of farmers and laboring elements of nearby points in this state, Nebraska and Iowa.

While he did not mention specific remedies for agriculturalists, Governor Bryan drew his hearers and every farmer and wage earner in the United States to obtain a copy of the Democratic platform and carefully read it. It contained, he said, "every practical remedy for the relief and encouragement of agriculture." The Democratic party is a friend of labor, he said, adding that the word "labor," no longer applies to shop and factory workers but to those who work on the farm as well.

Governor Bryan declared the Republican administration during the past four years had struck a blow to agriculture "that can only be remedied during the next four years by the election of a Democratic president and a Democratic congress in November."

A "few" Republican members of Congress from the northwest who "have been complicit" to bolt the Republican party, because it "betrayed the trust placed in that party by the farmers of the entire country," the nominee asserted, were aligned with the Democrats during the last two years and assisted them in "restoring equality before the law as it applied to the tax bill."

"If the Democratic party as a whole is progressive enough and honest enough to secure the votes of the progressive Republican senators and congressmen of the agricultural states of the northwest, we got the farmers of the northwest to stand in support of the Democratic national candidates who have been progressive in office and are now standing upon and are pledged to the most progressive Democratic platform that was ever written by a national political party," Mr. Bryan asked.

The Democratic party, he continued, is not a party represented by blocs, factions, sections or creeds, but is one "standing on the broad Jeffersonian doctrine of equal rights to all and social privileges to none." Its representatives in congress, he said, "have been furnishing the votes to every scoundrel who that wanted a square deal and opposing every measure that has been seeking special privileges."

"Agriculture is not asking for alms," Mr. Bryan said. The farmers "are not seeking information as to how to farm, nor are they 'autocratizing' on account of their own extravagance or lack of thrift." What they want he said, is "the hand-cups and the hobbles which have been placed on them by the Republican administration removed."

The farmers were seeking demands similar to those of labor—a sufficient price for their products to enable them to live at American standards with a margin for old age.

Governor Bryan said that "almost every social, economic and financial reform that has been adopted by this nation had its origin in the agricultural classes and they were its chief supporters."

"Our Republican opponents," he continued, "are now intimating that those residing in the great agricultural states are a dangerous element and that they are not standing on the constitution. The common people, among whom are to be found the farmers and wage earners, will give their answer in November."

Discussing agriculture at another point, the vice presidential candidate said "misuse of the Federal Reserve system" by the Republicans had reduced the per capita circulation of currency from fifty-one to thirty-nine dollars and curtailed the value of farm products and land.

"Lessening the farmer's ability to purchase the output of the highly protected industries," he asserted, "has brought about the closing of factories for several days a week and has almost killed the hen that laid the golden egg—agriculture—and it is 'some hen'."

Continuing, Governor Bryan said that Republican leaders in the past had begun to realize something must be done for agriculture. "President Coolidge," he said, "in his speech of acceptance says, 'The Republican platform recognizes that agriculture should be on a basis of economic equality with other industries.' The Republican party has said that in its platform, but it has opposed every piece of legislation that would put agriculture on an economic equality with other industries."

The Republican party's interest in the farmer, he asserted, has been "usually expressed in interest rates."

Legislative and administrative "unfriendliness" had cost the farmer and livestock producer "billions of dollars in the last four years," he declared.

Referring to Mr. Coolidge's speech again, Governor Bryan asserted the president "offers no practical or permanent remedies for relief of agriculture."

Governor Bryan compared Democratic control of national affairs from 1912 to 1920 with the Republican administration since that time, and declared that four years ago "special privilege" laid the foundation at the Republican national convention "to plunder the country through government favoritism, official privilege and administrative incompetency."

Selecting phrases from his Republican opponents' speeches Governor Bryan said, "My friend and former fellow-townsmen, General Dawes, says, 'This is a campaign of brass tacks, and our good president says that we must apply 'common sense'."

"I say that the Republicans have already gotten the farmer down to the bed rock and it is time to apply honesty in government as well as in private life if the confidence of the people in their government is to be restored and if the masses of the people are again to enjoy prosperity and contentment."

Governor Bryan again attacked "special privilege," and asked "What legislation has been passed during the past four years for the benefit of the farmer, or the wage earner, or the masses of the people, that didn't have a string to it?"

Summing up, he asserted that while the "privilege-seeking class were reaping their reward for substantially supporting the Republican party in the campaign four years ago, by securing indefensible high tariff rates, transferring a large per centage of their taxes to others to bear, deflating the currency and compelling the farmers to pay their loans in larger bushels of wheat and corn than they borrowed, the politicians who demanded and secured some of the highest appointive offices in the gift of the government, were not overlooking their opportunity to join the 'get-rich-quick' club."

"The nation has been humiliated and the world has been shocked at the dishonesty, the incompetency, the greed, the graft and the corruption that has been uncovered by congress in connection with this administration without any assistance or encouragement on the part of the chief executive."

Mentioning against the President and his running mate, Governor Bryan said: "President Coolidge says that the issue in this campaign is common sense, and Mr. Dawes says that 'The Republican party under the leadership of President Coolidge has taken its stand firmly upon the constitution of the United States and all know where it stands.'"

"That great leader of the Democratic party, that able lawyer and statesman who has had the ability to determine what is wrong at the present time and has the courage to say so—John W. Davis—says that the issue in this campaign is 'common honesty,' and I want to add four more words and say that the issue is 'common honesty' and equality before the law."

"Who constitutes the Republican party, and are all of the leaders of the Republican party standing on the constitution with Mr. Coolidge and with Mr. Dawes?" he asked, and added "Why indulge in generalities?"

Governor Bryan then named those officials who were involved in the various scandals in Washington and continued in an interrogative vein: "Are these high-up officials in the Republican administration who are still recognized as Republican leaders, some of them who took part as delegates in the recent Republican National convention, are they standing on the constitution with the Republican party in this campaign?"

"If so," he said, "we will request that the Republican leaders give us a modern definition of what the constitution means and whether they are standing on their own physical constitution or whether they refer to that great document that guarantees the individual his inalienable rights."

"If so," he said, "we will request that the Republican leaders give us a modern definition of what the constitution means and whether they are standing on their own physical constitution or whether they refer to that great document that guarantees the individual his inalienable rights."

The vice presidential candidate prefaced his address, his first outside his home state and the first since his formal notification, August 18, with an explanation of how Labor Day was created and with a reaffirmation that "labor is not a commodity—but that it is human and must be dealt with humanly."

He described the two major parties and said he had been devoting the past 28 years in framing "legislative and administrative remedies for governmental and business abuses."

He paid high tribute to the administration of Woodrow Wilson, and declaring that during his administration "each and every one of the measures enacted had for its simple purpose the wiping out of class privilege, class advantage and class distinction." He defined a progressive as "one who thinks in terms of human beings," and a conservative as "one who thinks in terms of dollars."

Viewing Alaska from Clouds
Becomes Popular with Tourists

ANCHORAGE, Alaska. — Viewing Alaska from the clouds has become popular since the introduction of passenger planes, the first of which made its appearance here July 4. This machine is operating from 15 to 20 hours a day to accommodate the large number of tourists wanting to see Mount McKinley from altitudes of from 5,000 to 10,000 feet.

The peak, about 20,000 feet high often is obscured to surface-gazers by haze or clouds, but usually stands out magnificently a few thousand feet up.

DAWES OUTLINES RELIEF TO FARM

Republican Candidate Claims
Farm Problem Most Serious Question.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 2.—Declaring the farm situation to be the most serious economic question now confronting the United States, Charles C. Dawes, Republican candidate for vice president, in an address
here tonight presented an explanation of the purpose of the present administration in the contemplated appointment of an agricultural commission.

"We make but one promise—that the Republican party, utilizing the best minds and those by training
best fitted for the task, will bend its every energy to the study of our agricultural problem to the end that through legislation or other means, its solution may be accomplished," Mr. Dawes asserted. "Whoever promises more than this is entering into a contract which can not be filled."

The Republican nominee devoted the major portion of his address, delivered here in the heart of the agricultural middle west, to the causes for the recent depression in farm prices, the remedies recommended, and the prospects for the future.

Need for the appointment of "an impartial, non-partisan competent commission, under economic guidance" is imperative, Mr. Dawes said, adding that "the recent improvement in the agricultural situation must not be taken as evidence that the farmers' problem has worked out its own solution."

The problem to be solved, he asserted, resolved itself into a question of finding how "equality in earning capacity can be secured between agriculture and industry."

This problem, he added, arose primarily from conditions resulting from the world war and, foremost among the causes responsible, he declared, was unregulated production. Figures were cited to show the increase in acreage over pre-war years, attention was called to the increase in taxes, the possibilities of extension of co-operative marketing were discussed, and Mr.
Dawes then launched into an explanation of the agricultural commission proposal.

"The mere fact that it is not now possible to consider this question when the industry is not in the trough of a terrible depression, as it was sixty days ago, has its great advantages," he declared. "It removes that obstacle to the gaining of perspective which immersion in immediate crises always involves. In fact, there never was a better opportunity presented for the proper consideration of constructive measures relative to an industry than exists at present when a terrible experience with its lessons, is so recent and the demonstration of the ultimate effects of economic law is at the same time before."

"It is, however, one of the fundamental characteristics of human nature to be much more concerned with getting out of trouble than when once out of it, to keep from getting in again. This we must guard against, or the opportunity
may be lost."

"The position outlined by the proponents of agricultural relief is evidence that they regard properly
the protective tariff and restricted immigration more as a moral justification of the demands for a agricultural relief than as the cause of the recent depression."

"This is natural, for in the ten year pre-war period, the surplus of the farmers' products as at present, was sold in the world market and he bought in a protected market."

"Our policy of protection in no way eliminates the operation of the law of supply and demand within our own borders, but simply imports from abroad below a certain price level determined by the import duty."

"That the protective tariff was somewhat lower than that now in existence was because it was sufficient to give labor and manufacturing their American market.
At that time before the war, the manufacturing costs of production in Germany had not been lessened
by the enormous decrease in the wages of labor there, caused by the degradation of the mark. Inflation in other European countries have not then lessened other labor costs in Europe. The lower tariff, then, prevented ruinous foreign competition as the Fordney tariff does now."

"As to restricted immigration, considering the two periods of before the war and since the war, the difference in the number of immigrants is not yet such as to be a real factor in the difference in labor costs. Other reasons have operated there, including the proper organization of labor for its own protection."

"Fair consideration of all elements in the situation leads one to the conclusion that the great underlying cause for the recent depression
in agriculture has been the conditions resulting from the world war."

"The recent situation in the American agricultural industry, considered by itself, is somewhat analogous to the European situation in industry at the inception of the work of the expert committee on reparations. So great was the necessity for settlement with Europe facing the abyss that almost any plan upon which the expert committee could have unanimously agreed might have been temporarily accepted for it then compelled Europe,
for the first time, to think in alternatives."

"Even an unworkable plan, adopted unanimously at least might have provided the basis of a temporary economic peace. But if, influenced by nationalistic or political considerations, there had been drawn an unworkable plan, because that was the easiest—because upon its basis

chances of the Athletics. Rated the nationalistic demagogues of the different countries would have been placated—the peace upon which Europe is about to enter would have been temporary and the chaos which would have come as a result of the inevitable failure of such a plan probably would have marked the beginning of a new dark age for that continent and its civilization."

"The worst calamity that could happen to American agriculture at this time is the adoption of an unworkable plan."

"The difference between an economic and an unwise political settlement of what is to be done for American agriculture, though now legislation, is the difference between success and failure. There must be most careful consideration of the application of economic principles and also close calculation of the probable effectiveness of any proposed remedy."

"The immediate political exigencies of the great political parties in this campaign would be settled if they could make the American agri-culturalist believe in the fulfillment of an unfulfilled promise.
But this must not be made a matter of political expediency. It must be considered without prejudice and from every standpoint."

"After two years of discussion upon this subject, as extensive as was ever devoted in the United States in the same space of time to an economic problem, it is at present
clear that there is no consensus of either agricultural or economic opinion upon any of the proposed legislative remedies now under consideration. Under such circumstances, the same common sense method of procedure which led to the settlement of the difficulties of Europe should be followed in the search for the settlement of the American agricultural problem."

Mr. Dawes also discussed the possibility of co-operative marketing, declaring that the problems "involved in co-operative marketing should receive most serious and continuous study to the end that this form of distribution may be established on sound lines, which ultimately will bring results advantageous to the producer."

"The farmers must organize—preferably on a commodity basis," he continued, "for the purpose of improving marketing facilities where present costs are burdensome or can be reduced, and what is of equal importance, for the purpose of collection and prompt dissemination of information in intelligible form which will aid in the working out of proper seeding and planting programs."

Mr. Dawes emphasized that the agricultural question "is a national question" and a non-partisan and economic question and it must not be and can not be either discussed
or settled as a party question."

ADA TAKES SMALL END OF SCORE

Wynnewood Invaders Snatch
Victory by 5 to 4 Count;
Little Hitting

In the second game of the two-day series, this one played with Wynnewood, the Ada Independents
again lost by a margin of one run,
the final count showing the visitors
with five and Ada with four scores.

The game early developed into a pitcher's battle between Carson and Lane. Wynnewood batters found Lane in the sixth, however, and Munson was sent in to repel the invaders. With the bases loaded Munson threw wild past third, allowing two of the visitors to score, putting them two in the lead. Another scored shortly after.

Hitting was scarce on both sides.
Fain grabbed off the honors of the day by sending the ball high over the left field fence for a circuit clout. Lloyd Wauer and Johnson each collected a double, while Young got one single.

For Wynnewood, Stagner and Baker hit for two singles each and Knight and Carson got one-base blows.

Bases on balls were frequent, several resulting later in runs. Six Ada men reached first by this route,
while Lane and Munson gave passes to five visitors. The accurate arm of Stagner, visiting catcher nipped several attempted base steals.
Fain being the only one to succeed
among the Ada players.

Carson struck out seven while Lane and Munson each struck out
two. Ada players suffered five errors to be attached to their record
while Wynnewood allowed two.

Pigeons Steer Straight Course.

(By the Associated Press)
BERNE, Switzerland.—An interesting test of the reliability of pigeons as message bearers was recently made by the Swiss general staff. Twenty doves were taken to the highest accessible point of the "Jura" and released. The day was cloudless in the upper regions of the Alps, but all the cities and valleys were screened from view by a thick layer of fog.

Seventeen doves started in a straight line for Berne. Two started in the wrong direction, and a third became lost for a while in the valley. But the entire 20 finally reached their destination. The three erring doves were only ten minutes
behind the leaders in getting home.

Loest Plague in Germany.
(By the Associated Press)
BOCHOLT, Germany.—A plague
of locusts has brought a new industry to this region where the insects have been gathered by the ton and oil extracted from their bodies. The locusts came over the frontier from Holland, by countless billions, and were caught by women and boys
with great baskets.
The oil is intended for airplane motors and is said to be particularly adaptable for winter flying because it does not congeal in low temperatures. Good, fat locusts retailed at about one-fourth of a cent a pound.
After the insects passed through the oil extraction process, the refuse was used as fertilizer.

The merchants reported heavy
sales of ducking for cotton sacks
Saturday, indicating that picking will begin in good earnest this week.

You Can't Fool Oklahoma Housewives

They have learned many important facts about baking powder.
These facts have cost them real money in the form of labor that was wasted because bakings made with an inferior leavener were ruined—because expensive ingredients used in the bakings were spoiled.

They have found by actual experience that

CALUMET THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

is most dependable and economical.

For thirty-five years Calumet has been serving the housewives of the nation—making it easy to bake and serve pure, sweet and always wholesome foods.

Years ago when Calumet was first offered to the ladies of Oklahoma
they were quick to grasp the advantage of its more than usual leavening strength.

Don't experiment — don't change from Calumet to some other brand—it will only add to the cost of your bakings and may mean absolute failure on bake day.
